TECHNOLOGIES USED

Bootstrap

The main frontend is solely made with Bootstrap making the website responsive, as well as the standard to contemporary websites' look and feel.

Custom CSS Rules

Apart from Bootstrap (which works quite well on its own), I have specified custom CSS rules for each page to suit my custom template.

JQuery

Jquery is the framework used to make the website look dynamic and more interactive - things like a smooth login flow, along with drop-down menus are some of the highlights of the places at which I use JQuery.

PHP

The only backend (server-side) scripting that I use is PHP to authenticate users in order to access the video page. Along with this, PHP is used to retrieve information from the database, as well.

MySQL

MySQL is the database used to store the comic's details which are fetched and displayed on the "details" page. I use PHP to access the database.

WEBSITE WORKFLOW

1) Users are greeted with the homepage.

Kyon is a student at North High School in Nishinomiya. He is dragged along by his classmate, the titular character Haruhi Suzumiya, an eccentric schoolgirl who seeks supernatural phenomena and figures such as aliens. time travelers, and espers. With Kyon's reluctant help, Haruhi establishes a club called the "SOS Brigade" (SOS 🗓 Esu-Ō-Esu Dan), short for "Spreading excitement all Over the world with Haruhi Suzumiya Brigade" (世界を大いに 盛り上げるための涼宮ハルヒの団 Sekai o Ōini Moriageru Tame no Suzumiya Haruhi no Dan) (In the school's official paperwork Kyon renamed it "Support the Student Body by Overworking to Make the World a Better Place Student Service Brigade") to investigate mysterious events. Haruhi soon recruits three additional members: the laconic bibliophile Yuki Nagato. the shy and timid Mikuru Asahina, and the unflappable transfer student Itsuki Koizumi. These members soon reveal themselves to Kyon, to be the types of extraordinary characters that Haruhi seeks. They have been sent by their respective secret organizations to observe Haruhi — who is unaware that she possesses destructive reality warping powers — and to prevent these powers from being unleashed. Each of the three believe that it would be dangerous were Haruhi to discover she had such powers. Together with Kyon, they work to keep life interesting for Haruhi and to prevent her from becoming bored enough to imagine a new world, as they and their organizations fear that this would destroy the current world.

憂鬱 Suzumiya Haruhi no Yūutsu), produced by the Japanese animation studio Kyoto Animation and directed by Tatsuya Ishihara, contained 14 episodes which aired in Japan between April 2 and July 2, 2006. It was originally aired in a nonlinear order, with the prologue and first seven chapters of the first novel intermixed with chapters from some of the later novels. The "next episode" previews feature two different episode numberings: one number from Haruhi, who numbers the episodes in chronological order, and one number from Kyon, who numbers them in broadcast order. The DVD releases start with "Episode 00" and are then shown in chronological order.

Brief Intro To The Novel

Haruhi Suzumiya (涼宮ハルヒ Suzumiya Haruhi) is a series of light novels written by Nagaru Tanigawa and illustrated by Noizi Ito and which were adapted into other media. Initially released in Japan in 2003 with the novel The Melancholy of Haruhi Suzumiya, it was followed by ten to leave a mark on my memories. Hey there, I'm Aekansh. I will not bother you with all those normal introductions people give. Treating others has to you with all those normal introductions people give. Treating others has to be like how you want to be treated, and the very nature of this life is to give you happiness which we fail to grab. Like you noticed, both the above statements had no basic intentions at all and were completely random. So there it is. I love randomens and cazy ideas. Well basically, anything that is a little Hatke, a.k.a, not normal! Treat me good, and I'll treat you better! Hate me, well keep trying - it'll just not affect me. I believe in productivity of ideas - well because everyone has ideas, yet a only few execute them. You bored? Me too. Byel: D

Okay, that was pretty boring stuff. If you've made it this far - I'm glad! You sure want to know me better. Well, I'm a passionate author (or maybe a writer, too), I love to code, and probably I want to see myself write and direct a major film one day! Apart from that, I guess I just want to do little things that help change people's lives for the better.

If you've been following the news, you should be aware of the recent controversies Facebook has gotten itself into. People all around the world have finally understood the importance of the Privacy Policy documents that we choose to skip each time we've been offered a product or service. Just a we choose to skip each time we ve been offered a product or service. Just while back, nobody ever cared about how facebook showed you personalized ads or didn't even bother asking how your favorite shoes on Amazon ended up on a random news website. What changed suddenly? Are you just pissed that the wrong man became the president? Or are you actually concerned about how much of your life is exposed?

Strange, cool clubs?

You can't do anything about what doesn't exist. In the end humans settle for what's in front of them. If you think about it, humans who were unable to do that made discoveries or inventions and advanced civilization. Planes were invented because people wanted to fly. Cars and trains came to be because people wanted easier means to move around. However, this came from a limited number of people who had innovative plans and concepts. In other words, geniuses made it all possible. Common folk like us are best off living an
